Reading

Task 2. Read the text about Jimmy's work experience at a law office carefully. Then answer the questions below by choosing the correct option (A, B, C, or D).

I'd been at the office about three days when the woman I was working for, Susanna, called me into her office. I didn't know what had gone wrong. I wasn't doing anything very important, after all. They just made me photocopy documents and make coffee or answer the phone. I wasn't really getting any experience, so I decided I was going to tell her at our meeting. I did feel guilty though. My mum had got me the job through a friend of hers, but I wasn't getting paid and I really wanted to know what it would be like to be a lawyer.

I wasn't allowed in with any clients because it was all confidential, and I understood that, but nobody took any time out to explain anything to me. I just felt like their servant.

I waited outside the office and I was getting quite anxious. But I didn't want to come in any more days this week and just do nothing. I could sit at home and find out more online than being here. Susanna called me in. She was looking very friendly, but I was still determined to say what I thought.

"Sit down, Jimmy. Now, how are you getting on?" I took a deep breath. "Well," I started, "I'm not sure I'm learning much about law..." I stopped. She was smiling at me.

"You're about to," she said, "We're all very happy with the little tests we've been giving you this week. You see, we ask you to do small and simple tasks and, if you do these properly with a good attitude, then we can ask you to do things with more responsibility. And we've all been very impressed. Many students don't seem to realise that the more routine aspects of your work matter as much as the important things – like getting to the office on time and keeping your desk organised. You've been very efficient and you always have a smile. I do hope you'll stick with the idea of studying law, Jimmy!"

6) Why does Jimmy say he feels 'guilty'?

- A. He has done too few work tasks.
- B. He wasn't earning any money.
- C. Someone else had arranged the work for him.
- D. Some of the information he knew was secret.

7) Why was Jimmy feeling anxious?

- A. He was reconsidering if he wanted to study law.
- B. He did his job well even though he was unhappy.
- C. He wanted to take on more responsibility in his role.
- D. He hadn't learned very much about law.

8) The writer says that Jimmy 'took a deep breath' to show ...

- A. How nervous he was feeling about making his point.
- B. How well he had planned what he wanted to say.
- C. That he needed to remember his questions.
- D. That he was relieved Susanna was smiling at him.

9) What do we learn about Jimmy in the final paragraph?

- A. He would be happier doing nothing at home.
- B. He was thinking about what to say to his boss.
- C. He was nervous about expressing his opinion.
- D. He hated doing routine tasks in the office.

10) What lesson does Susanna try to teach Jimmy about work?

- A. Only important tasks matter in a job.
- B. Small and routine tasks are just as important as big tasks.
- C. Smiling at work is more important than efficiency.
- D. Employees should start with the most difficult tasks first.
